

CARPETS

The best way to care for a carpet is to make sure it doesn't get dirty.

This is done by arranging suitable door mat at the front door.

Remember to choose colour and quality of the carpet to its purpose.

Pressure marks after furniture that has been moved are partially restored after some time. This can be accelerated by vacuuming with the small nozzle to pull up the pile.

If this doesn't help, you can try to slightly moisten with warm water and soft brushing to bring up the pressed pile. A textile rug is made of material which moves depending on humidity and temperature. It can thus grow and shrink with the seasons.

We reserve the right to vary the dimensions + -1%.

WOOL

Be aware that your wool rug will shed a lot in the beginning. When the carpet is new there is excess wool that slowly loosens and comes up to the surface.

For cleaning wool carpets, we recommend padding with mineral water instead for ordinary water. Avoid bleach or other products that are likely to affect the colour of the wool rug. Stains from natural dyes, such as tea and coffee, will gradually disappear under the influence of light.

SISAL

Carpets made of Sisal doesn't withstand water, there can be water marks and the carpet can lose its shape. Therefore, be careful when removing stains.

REGULAR CLEANING

Vacuum your carpet regularly, a couple of times a week. Keep the brush raised, because the brush can wear on the carpet and the edging/fringe.

Remove spills and stains as soon as possible.

Never rub when trying to remove a stain. You only risk the stain spreading.

Dab the stain and soak up with a dry cloth.

Machine washing should be done so often that the carpet is never perceived as dirty.

Different rugs requires different washing methods. Contact a professional carpet cleaning company who can give you advice and help.

REMOVE STAINS

Dilute the stain with lukewarm water and soak up. If this is not enough, a white cloth can be moisten with lukewarm water and a few drops of detergent.

Dab and then soak up with dry cloth.

If the stain is dry, try vacuuming or scraping off the dirt first. Brush up the carpet pile where the stain has been while the carpet is still damp.

Feel free to use a hair dryer on low heat as the fibers regain their shape more easily.

For sisal rugs you should only moisten the cloth and bathe dry, as they cannot withstand even a small amount of water.

NOTE! always try on a hidden surface of the carpet to check the colour fastness.

Let the test surface dry completely before reviewing it. If the colour of the test surface changes, do not use the product on the rest of the carpet.
